

Spectacular Antique Sultanabad Rug no. 9513

Description

A connoisseur caliber late 19th century Persian Sultanabad Carpet. Woven in a series of villages in Western Central Iran, Sultanabad carpets employ over-scale, spacious all-over patterns that are highly prized for their versatility. They are equally gracious in modern settings as they are in traditional spaces. Because these carpets were often woven on a craft level in the home, the amount of creativity and spontaneity in the best Sultanabad's is astonishing. They are still one of the top rugs of choice for the highly sophisticated interior designers throughout the world.
